| 1. Kaulana mai nei a`o Nawiliwili | Famous is Nawiliwili                 |
| He nani no `oe ia Ninini          | Ninini is lovely (as well)           |
| He beauty maoli no                | Very beautiful indeed                |
|                                   |                                      |
| 2. Kuahiwi nani `oe a`o Ha`upu    | Ha'upu is a beautiful mountain       |
| Ka pua mokihana, ea               | With the mokihana berry              |
| Ka pua nani o Kaua`i              | The lovely "flower" of Kaua'i        |
|                                   |                                      |
| 3. Ho`ohihi ka mana`o a`o Kaua`i  | Cherished are the thoughts of Kaua'i |
| E o mai ko leo aloha              | Answer with your voice of love       |
| Ke kani a`o Pi`ilani              | The call from Pi'ilani               |
|                                   |                                      |
| 4. Ha`ina `ia mai ana ka puana    | Tell the refrain                     |
| Kaulana mai nei Nawiliwili        | Famous is Nawiliwili                 |
| He beauty maoli no                | Very beautiful indeed                |

Nawiliwili is the main harbor for Kaua'i and Ninini is right beside it. Ha'upu is the first cliff that you see as you approach Kaua'i by boat. It is famous is song and legend standing right at waters edge.

The "flower" of Kaua'i is not a flower at all, but a green berry. It's long lasting scent is unforgettable - sort of a combination of vanilla and anise.

Pi'ilani is the ancient chief of Maui.

Does the beloved live in Maui while the suitor lives in Kaua'i? It would seem so.
